Restriction/Election

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 5 35 U.S.C. 121:

I. Claims 1 and 5 are drawn to a polypeptide, classified in class 530, subclass 350.

II. Claims 2-4 are drawn to a DNA, classified in class 536, subclass 23.1.

10 III. Claims 6-9 are drawn to a method for screening a compound that inhibits the interaction between calcineurin and NF-AT, classified in class 435, subclass 7.1.

IV. Claims 10-11 are drawn to a method of suppressing immune, classified in class 424, subclass 93.1.

15 V. Claim 12-13 are drawn to a method of preventing the hypertrophy of cardiac smooth muscle, classified in class 435, subclass 6.

VI. Claim 14 is to drawn a method comprising culturing a transformant, classified in class 435, subclass 325.

2. Claim 1 of Invention I encompasses 2 distinct proteins (see page 3+ of the specification and also the sequence listing). Note that the proteins are structurally different, therefore, applicant needs to elect a specific sequence for examination. Therefore, if Invention I is elected, claim 1 will 25 be examined only in-so-far as it pertains to the elected SEQ ID NO.

3. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The nucleic acids of Invention II are related to the protein of Invention I by virtue of encoding same. The DNA molecule has utility for the recombinant production of the protein in a host cell. Although the DNA molecule and protein are related since the DNA encodes the specifically claimed protein, they are distinct inventions because the protein product can be made by another and materially different process, such as by synthetic peptide synthesis or purification from the natural source. Further, the DNA may be used for processes other than the production of the protein, such as nucleic acid hybridization assay.

Inventions I-II and III-VI are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the DNA of Invention II can be used in a materially different process such as a probe and the protein of Invention I can be used in a materially different process such as to produce antibodies.

The methods of Inventions III-VI are patentably distinct because the methods have different steps and end points.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventor-ship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventor-ship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(I).
